

Just like us, animals see the world beyond their window. They remember when they were once homeless or neglected. They worry for those still out there. Will they be cold—will they be found—will they find their way to rescue groups like Carver•Scott Humane Society? They know that once in our care they had a greater chance of finding their perfect home and family. Now they wish for all the other animals still out there.

This is CSHS's annual holiday appeal to help those animals who also long to gaze out a warm and friendly window of their forever home. We can't help them without your support. Without any government funding, we can only count on the generosity of kind people like you.

In the last decade alone, we have placed more than 3,000 companion animals. Please help us continue to do the work we have been doing since our first adoption in 1989.

CSHS wishes you and your pets a warm and peaceful season. We thank you for your support.

Yes! I want to help the animals at Carver•Scott Humane Society this winter!
